Elegant. Simple. Functional.

When designing our Podcast line, we interviewed our customers to find out what they really need. First up was acoustics. We include removable sound panels at every position to combat noise. With many shows now incorporating a video component, clean tabletops are a must. We hid the cable passthrough in plain sight by making them aesthetically pleasing. Same goes for undercounter cable management. For quality of life, we added convenience charging and easy mounting for mic arms. Longevity was also a concern, so they all come with our standard lifetime warranty. Finally, they need to look good, so we offer customizable finishes. After all, there is no reason that your podcast table shouldn't be as original as your content.
